Parish Mission Statement

We the people of San Antonio parish strive to be a community of faith, hope and love. We find our identity and mission in Jesus Christ and His Gospel. We celebrate our life as Catholic Christians in word, worship and service. By recognizing our baptism, we accept our call to personal renewal and reach out with the gospel message to families and individuals, extending an invitation to fellowship with us.

Twenty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

MY VIEW OF HOLY CROSS

I had a nice dinner with Kathy and her Mom, Lillian, that night. She talked about what she does in the village. Kathy does her own hunting, she traveled 14 miles in the back woods on an ATV to get the moose we had for dinner, quartered it, cleaned it and then butchered it with a 'saws-all' to have the short ribs tonight. She also has her own 20ft boat, launches it, nets the fish, hauls them in and cleans and smokes them. She has two freezers full and working on the third. She has room for another Moose this September. Yes, she saw the "special" on Sarah Palin. She had little respect for the image she presented. Sarah is not the same caliber of woman in the "Bush".

We had Mass on the "Weeds and the Wheat" and talked about the harmful influences of those "weeds" around us, like alcohol abuse (big issue here), jealousy, not listening to our elders and our best Elder, Jesus who gives us instructions on right living to bring harmony in our lives. Three people stayed for coffee and doughnuts, including Lillian, who was a resident in the orphanage here many years ago. I immediately got her interested in playing the organ.

On Monday, I called to confirm my arrangements. My plane was to arrive at 1:00-1:30 pm. It varies depending on the villages at which they need to stop. There was a knock at the door. It's Lillian, she wants to go back to Anchorage. Her daughters Kathy and Mary, do not want her to leave. She wants to go back to her residence in Anchorage and her friends. I got a call from her daughter, trying to convince me she has dementia. Well, I said I don't want to get in the middle of this. I got a call from the clinic who said she has a right to go. Her daughters called the plane agent in town to try to prevent her from going. Yikes. So I am harboring a runaway. Lillian wants to stay with me until the plane leaves. NO luggage, she does not want to go back to the house. She makes her own arrangements over the phone (no dementia there). I get a call. The plane is delayed because it had to go to another village first-one more hour. I see a plane arrive thru the window. No call. Are they against calling me because I have Lillian?

I call on the CB—No Father that is not your plane. 40 min later I get a call, your plane will be here in 8 minutes. My ride shows up. It's raining as we get to the airstrip. I sit in the truck until ready to load. There is NO screening, just get from the truck

THE CROSS OF JESUS

The perception of a cross changed dramatically after Jesus' crucifixion. Before that event, death on a cross was not only horrible, it was degrading. It was a penalty reserved only for the most wretched of criminals. The word "glory" would not have found its way into the same sentence containing the word "cross." But all that changed with Jesus. Over time, believers began to venerate and honor the cross. They painted, sculpted, and carved images of it. Many lost their own lives for their association with it. Today our reverence for and relationship with the cross recalls little of the contempt originally associated with it. As it has been through the ages, it is our perception of the cross that determines how we follow Jesus.

GARAGE SALE SUCCESS

THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU

We made over $25,000 before expenses making this one of our most successful Garage Sales ever! Our clothing sales made up $5,775 of our total. Thanks for all the wonderful donations. This year we had the largest selection of collectables and jewelry along with a great assortment of furniture, electronics, house wares and clothing. Thanks to all of the Knights of Columbus! It would have been impossible to have had this event without their help in setting up, selling, loading, security and clean up. There were many of you, thanks again. This year many of our parish ladies came and helped, some of the past crew, but also many new members came and carried heavy boxes of books, priced every item and cleaned things until they nearly looked new. Your help in staging and displaying the merchandise increased our sales. You all worked so hard and devoted so much time and talent. You did a fantastic job.

Monks Closet sales: $5,775

Thank you all!

FEAST OF FAITH

WHAT JESUS DID, WHAT JESUS SAID

The oldest account of what happened at the Last Supper comes to us not from the Gospels but from the First Letter of Saint Paul to the Corinthians: "I received from the Lord what I also handed on to you, that the Lord Jesus, on the night he was handed over, took bread, and, after he had given thanks, broke it and said, 'This is my body that is for you. Do this in remembrance of me' " (11:23-24). In our celebrations of the Eucharist, we are obedient to Christ's command to "do this." The priest, acting in the person of Christ, does what Jesus did and says what Jesus said. He takes bread, gives thanks, breaks it, and gives it to the Lord's disciples. He takes wine, gives thanks, and shares it with us. We believe that the entire Eucharistic Prayer is consecratory, but we continue to hold these words of Jesus in special reverence. They are called the words of consecration, and the elevations of the host and chalice, the genuflections of the priest, and the optional ringing of a bell and use of incense remind us that we are in the presence of the Lord.

Fr. Joe Nettekoven)

into the plane quickly. Another truck arrives...it is Kathy her daughter. She decides to go to Bethel, so we are on the same flight. The two of them have to sit together in the back seat. Trying to get Lillian in is very difficult. The Pilot tries to start engine. It seems he flooded it. THEN... it won't even turn over. The starter won't engage. I tell the pilot "seems like a stuck Bendix starter". It's happened to me before. But being a "commercial" flight, neither he nor I can legally even touch a screw driver without grounding the airplane.

There we are sitting in the plane, it's raining, and no one around. Mother and Daughter in the back seat. It's very quiet. The pilot tries to hand turn the prop through to un-stick the starter. No luck. Then he thinks of using his radio to call any pilot overhead to call base in Aniak. Would you believe, not only is one of their planes flying overhead, but it is their mechanic. He lands within 5 minutes, he comes over, and thru a process of which, legally, I am not allowed to make public, did something to get the engine started.

On the way back, we flew over the land at about 200ft because of rain and visibility (this is what I enjoy). I did ask him what he would do if the engine stopped. This is good information. He said he would aim for the cottonwood trees. They are softer and would cushion the crash. Do NOT land in the tundra. It is too mushy, you would stop too quickly. We got back to Aniak only about 1 ½ hours later than normal. Out in the Bush that is considered on time! Lillian made her arrangements to Anchorage, found a place to stay, Kathy got off to Bethel and I thought I was going back to peace, quiet and recovery.

Now we're just getting started. I got back to a very sad situation. A 20 year old shot himself in the stomach,

Kathy and her mother Lillian lived four hours, but with no sophisticated services here, there was no help. They asked if I would I please come to the house, where others are gathering to say the rosary, in fact there will be a rosary every night until the funeral. The body is returning from Anchorage this afternoon. I am to meet the remains at the airport where there will be an ethnic ritual.

Getting Lillian deplaned.

We then travel to the home where the body will stay for 3 nights. Then it will be transferred to the church for a 2:00 pm funeral on Saturday. The grave side will be across the river where there is a tribal cemetery. Since that is Saturday, I will miss the scheduled flight to my next village. So they are readying the parish boat to take me down after the graveside. But next I will meet the airplane...

God Bless, Fr. Joe
